

Finding

Finding

water to water
as through sand, we meet.
Our newness quite buries the tomb.

We lay new stones.

Nearer to you than
blood to bones,
dust in teacups,
our skulls click in nervous kisses.

BILL GASTON